

About Us □ □ Chancellor Strickland, LUTCF is a well-known financial educator based in North Carolina. Founded in 2001, hundreds of retirees and business professionals have used his advice to plan for their retirement.

His mission is to provide his clients financial guidance with no loss guarantee solutions, to show how to protect your assets, increase after tax income, accumulate wealth, create financial independence, and ultimately offer peace of mind. Today, it is no longer just about the return on the investment, but the return of the investment.

We believe there is a secure and safe way to recover from the stock market loses. Isn't it time to protect your nest egg and grow your assets? Now that the stock markets seems to have recovered a bit, do you really think it is wise to trust the same people again that led you to lose 50% of your retirement and investment value in the first place?
